BIDINGER APPOINTS COMMITTEE

Plans For Entertaining President Taft Are Being Laid By Committee.

COUNTY WELL REPRESENTED

Every Supervisor and Mayor in Lake County is Asked to Aid in Planning Big Celebration.

Julius F. Bidinger, chairman of the United States Naval Training Station opening celebration, has named several Lake County business men as committee members. The men named will meet at the city hall in Waukegan this (Thursday) afternoon to discuss the various plans suggested for the entertainment of President Taft on October 28, the day set for the formal opening of the station.

Those appointed to act on committee are as follows:

George Kirk, Winthrop Harbor.
E. N. Richey, Zion City.
J. G. Welch, Russell.
Chase Webb and Ernest Simons, Antioch.

John G. Brown, Fox Lake.
Thomas E. Graham, Ingleside.
F. D. Battershall, Grayslake.
William J. Rosing, Round Lake.
John W. Minnich, Hainesville.
Frank Hamlin, Lake Villa.
Ralph Chittenden, Gurnee.
John H. Howard, Lake Bluff.
John T. Perie, Jr., Lake Forest.
R. P. Schunaber, and H. B. Eger, Libertyville.

Richard Smith and Henry C. Meyer, Rockfeller.

R. C. Kent and Ernest W. Brooks, Wauconda.

Miles T. Lamey, Barrington.
Frank Clark and Emil A. Ficke, Lake Zurich.

Albert G. Maether, Prairie View.

John C. Euker and M. Horenberger, Deerfield.

John Sverson, Highland.

John Oliver, Highland Park.

Mayor J. F. Binger and Commissioners Deitmeier, Diver, Atterbery and Orvis, and Corporation Counsel Bukely, Waukegan.

In arranging for the big celebration Mayor Bidinger is working with Mayor Sherwin, of North Chicago as the plan is to join in making the celebration the biggest Lake County ever has seen.

Mayor Sherwin and North Chicago as a whole are doing much to make the reception an eventful one, and Waukegan because of its nearness, feels that the celebration is local.

Mayor Bidinger is much enthused over the idea and is working hard to make it a big success. It was he who first suggested the idea of a joint celebration and to him belongs an extremely large part of the credit for the enthusiasm that is beginning to be shown all over the county.

Bound to Get Even.

A 14-year-old French boy, angered the other morning at being awakened too early by his mother, revenged himself by breaking up the furniture in his room, afterwards mounting to the roof of the house and throwing tiles at the people below.

Delicate Hint Availed Nothing.

Among the exceptional privileges granted to the new housemaid by the big married woman were three free phone calls a week, provided she informed beforehand what she wished to talk about, says the York Sun. At the close of a Tuesday, in which the wills of mistress and maid had clashed violently, sought permission to telephone, whom do you wish to speak?" her mistress. "To the pastor church," said Mary. Taking this as a sign of confidence, the mistress readily gave consent, and went to the telephone. "Grim," she said, "won't you pray for the woman I am for and so if that won't take the selfishness out of her, make her see that it is her to ask me to finish all today when I could just go till tomorrow morning the pastor prayed his petition answered."

BLACKMAILER PROVES TO BE DEMENTED

Petition will be filed before Judge Owens in Cook county at Chicago today in which it will be sought to have Francis E. Parke, blackmailer declared incompetent and committed to Dunning asylum for the insane, or to some other institution where he can be taken care of.

It is understood that the step meets with the approval of his attorneys, James G. Welch and Claire C. Edwards and of the federal officers, Charles De Woody, government agent and Special Agent Bragden.

The prospective filing of the petition, which if it does not come today will come some day before Saturday, is a startling ending to the case, as sentiment now seems unanimous that Parke belongs in a sanatorium rather than in a penal institution.

It is understood that his physician will sign the petition which will question the sanity of the man alleged to have written the $300 Holstein-Smith blackmailing letter, and that the petition will entail an immediate hearing, with the commitment, a matter of certainty, as Dr. N. J. Roberts and others are ready to testify that the man is insane still, while proof that he escaped from Norristown, Pa., insane asylum is easy to get and generally admitted. Roberts, it is stated, wished to sign a petition to bring Parke to book as incompetent yesterday.

$4,000 CANAL AT FOX LAKE IS COMPLETED

Distance between Chicago and all of the northeastern Illinois lake resorts has been shortened materially by the completion of a canal between Long and Fox lakes, the canal being used for the first time Sunday morning when the first motor boats were pulled over the dam and started towards Fox Lake.

The canal gives direct connection by motor boat from the Long Lake depot of the St. Paul railroad to Fox Lake and the entire chain of northern Illinois lakes to Wilmot, fourteen miles away, and to McHenry, twelve miles away. The cost of the canal was $4,000.

A Matter of Assurance.

"Some of your speeches," said the cynical friend, "make me think of a mathematical marvel I once knew." "In what way?" "He would dispose offhand of any problem you gave him. Nobody in the crowd was able to say whether he got the right answer, and it really didn't seem to make much difference, anyhow."

MRS. DOWIE BEGINS MEETINGS

Directly Opposed to Voliva She Rallies a Number of Former Followers

TAKES UP HUSBAND'S WORK

This is Her First Appearance Since the Death of Her Husband About Five Years Ago

Clad in a white surplice and the cap and gown of a doctor divine, Mrs. Alexander Dowie, widow of the late leader of the Church of Zion, Monday made her first attempt to bring together her husband's former disciples. Seventy-five members of the original flock responded to Mrs. Dowie's appeal and met at Handel Hall, in Chicago.

In the midst of her address of welcome, Mrs. Dowie broke down, and in a voice choked with sobs pleaded for a continuation of the work begun by her husband.

"Following the death of the beloved first apostle, John Alexander Dowie, the flock was scattered and self-appointed shepherds assumed control of Zion," said the high priestess of Dowieism. "Ambition actuated them and the Christian Catholic Apostolic church adopted measures we could not countenance, we of the first apostolic flock. The shepherds have proved to be sheep and the self-inspired apostles wolves in sheep's clothing."

"However, my mission is one of peace and good will, the propagation of the word of God, and the doctrine of love for all. I will become your pastor, your minister, a healer and a friend. I am not rich and I have not a great amount of money to spend, but I shall try to carry on the work in Chicago as my husband, and I carried it on at the time of the World's Fair."

Mrs. Dowie's appearance was the first in public since the death of her husband nearly five years ago. She was enthusiastically received by members of her future tabernacle group and fealty to the faith of Dowie was pledged by her hearers.

These meetings will be held weekly and will virtually oppose the organization controlled by Voliva, overseer of Zion City and the "second divine apostle" of the church of Zion.

Mrs. Dowie said her son, Gladstone Dowie, in close sympathy with her plans for re-establishment of the house of Dowie. She is an ordained minister of the gospel and is remarkably broad in her views on orthodox religion.

VOLIVA AGAIN INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

The list of indictments returned at noon Tuesday in a partial report of the grand jury included that of Wilbur Glenn Voliva and three of his leaders, John W. Friend, Walter Hurd Clendenen and Allison A. Walker on charge of conspiracy. This indictment marks the second one against Voliva. The first conspiracy indictment was quashed by order of Judge Charles Whitney.

The Voliva indictment consists of 232 pages closely typed. The main witnesses against him are said to have been Mayor Bidinger, Oliver Conroy, Frank McCann, John Deep, George Anderson, F. Herberger, Charles Jemison, Fred Rose and James Tyrrell.

A petition asking for change of venue was at once presented by Clendenen and was granted by Judge Whitney.

The chances are that Judge Frost of Rockford will be the man who will sit on the bench in Lake County court room when the cases are tried.

The petitioner did not ask that the case be tried in Belvidere county or McHenry county, but asked merely that some judge preside over the hearing. Friend appeared in court Wednesday and entered a plea of "not guilty."

No Kick Coming.

"Some say there is a sucker born every minute." "I don't know any thing about that," responded the eminent trust magnate. "I cater to ultimate consumers and the birth rate is very satisfactory as to them."

REV. STIXRUD RETURNS TO ANTIOCH

Hickory this Year has its own Pastor, Rev. L. Glass receiving Appointment

FEW CHANGES ARE MADE

Rev. William O. Shepard is again Appointed as District Superintendent of the Chicago Northern District.

The Rock River conference of the Methodist Episcopal church, which has been in session at Joliet for a week, finished its work Tuesday at noon.

At the last session resolutions on marriage and divorce which demanded an examination as to the physical and mental soundness of parties desiring to marry was hotly debated. The resolution containing the examination provision was finally lost, though strong statements of the necessity of a white life for both parties were carried. President Taft was commended for his stand in favor of uniform divorce laws.

At the last session the list of appointments were read by the Bishop, Rev. A. O. Stixrud, who carried with him a unanimous request for his return again receiving the appointment to Antioch, much to the gratification of the community in general.

Hickory will this year have a pastor of its own, Rev. LeRoy Glass having been assigned to that place. During the previous year Antioch and Hickory were combined but on account of this arrangement being unsatisfactory in many ways, District Superintendent William O. Shepherd who is again appointed for this district, was moved to make the change.

Other appointments in our immediate vicinity are: Lake Villa, yet to be supplied; Grayslake, H. G. Smith; Rosecrans and Yorkhouse, C. F. Jones; Libertyville, W. H. Whipple. Wauconda and Volo, B. A. McKercher; Zion City, S. M. McDonald; Barrington, O. F. Mattison; and Gages Lake, John Austin.

Some of Antioch's former pastors have been placed as follows: F. R. McNamer, Prophetstown; E. J. Aikin, Chicago Lawn; Benjamin Rist, St. Paul's church, Chicago and W. B. Doble, Sterling.

KERR FARM AGAIN IN LITIGATION

An attempt is again being made to decide by law just who the rightful owner of what was formerly known as the James Kerr farm near Lake Villa really is. As will be remembered Mr. Lord, then an agent of the Wisconsin central, with offices in Chicago, bought and presented the farm to Miss Genevieve Reid, who was at the time employed as stenographer in his offices.

After the death of Lord, his wife brought suit to recover the property and the case has been in court every since, being one of the number scheduled to be brought up at the term now in session. It is claimed that Miss Reid who is at present living in New York, did not appear at the hearing of the case. She was represented by attorneys King & Prmalee while Pope & McGuffin acted in behalf of Mrs. Lord.

Miss Reid has never resided upon her farm but has a superintendent, who has charge of the place and works there on a monthly salary, it is claimed. He formerly, it is stated, worked the farm after the nature of a tenant, but when the case was opened, the lease was changed to a contract, it is claimed, and the man remained on the place in the nature of an employee.

The residents of the community have taken an unusual amount of interest in the case and its outcome is the cause of much speculation.

Special Privilege.

"Isn't it against the law to be loud and boisterous in the street?" "It is," replied Mr. Chuggins, "unless you do so with a mechanical screecher attached to a motor car."

DR. TURNER WEDS TODAY

Former Antioch Boy is Uited in Marriage to Miss Klein of Englewood

The marriage of Dr. John Arthur Turner of Waukegan to Miss Hazel Irene Kline will take place at the home of the bride's parents in Chicago, 5523 Michigan avenue, Englewood, at high noon today. Rev. Archdeacon W. E. Toll of St. Luke's, Evanston, officiating.

Decorations will be in green and white, and a novel feature is that three friends, Serman Cook, A. S. Alexander and C. N. Stanley have sent southern smilax, magnolia, cape jessamine, palmettos and ferns from the sunny southland to be used in the decorative theme.

The bride will be attired in a Mexican drawn work gown over satin.

Mrs. Howard Jones of Richmond, Indiana, will wear light green satin and Mrs. R. T. Kline, another of the matrons, Richmond, Indiana, light blue satin. The ring bearer will be Miss Betty Jones of Richmond, Indiana. The best man will be Edward Allan Kline, brother of the bride.

The bride will carry a shower bouquet that will include white gardenias. After the ceremony a wedding repast will be served.

The young couple will, after a trip, reside at 1613 North avenue, Waukegan, where the groom is a rising young physician with a large practice.

The marriage is a romantic one, Dr. Turner having met his bride-to-be while both were on a tour of Old Mexico, the acquaintance ripening into a love affair.

The future Mrs. Turner is very prominent socially and in clubdom in Englewood and is an accomplished musician.

Dr. Turner was formerly an Antioch resident having lived here with his parents Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Turner for a number of years. His many Antioch friends extend congratulations.

GYPSIES FLEECE AGED MAN

A band of gypsies visited town this (Thursday) forenoon and before their departure succeeded in fleecing one of our aged residents, Andrew Straglin, out of twenty dollars. Mr. Straglin who is in the neighborhood of eighty-six years of age was digging potatoes and had just entered the barn with a painful when he was accosted by one of the band who wanted to tell his fortune. He accordingly held out his hand and then complied with her request to give her a dime, this she rolled up in a piece of paper and slipped into his pocket with instructions to let it remain in the three days. Mr. Straglin's daughter Mrs. Marshall just then appeared and asked the gypsy what her future might be, and when the member of the dusky tribe expressed a need of haste and hurried away, her suspicions were aroused. But it was not until quite a bit later that the loss of the money was discovered. Mrs. Marshall at once reported the matter to the Village Marshall and he, getting together a number of aids started in pursuit of the band which by this time well on their way north.

Up to the time we go press they have not yet returned and the outcome of their pursuit is not known.

NEW ROAD OPENS SUNDAY

The Waukegan, Rockford and Elgin Traction company has issued invitations for a picnic on October 8, that is to be held in Deer Grover park, a beautiful natural park through which the railroad passes. The park is considered one of the most beautiful in the state.

All those who attend will be given an opportunity of riding on the new line as cars will leave at noon and every thirty minutes. There are to be amusements of all kinds.

As He Understood It.

A Portobello (Scotland) schoolboy has produced the champion howler of the season. The passage for paraphrase was from Kingsley: "For men must work and women must weep, though storms be sudden and waters deep, and the harbor bar be moaning." "Men and women," said the youngster, "must keep on working though the inn at the harbor is groaning for its customers."

WOMAN TALKS OF CASE

Miss Sexsmith Figuring in Case is Said to Have Lived With her Uncle At Loon Lake

WAS A FRIEND OF WEBSTER

Was Employed by him for a Short Time but Claims there was no love affair Between them.

Much interest is just now being taken in the Webster murder case and in connection with this affair the Waukegan Sun contains an article embracing the following statements.

"That the Miss Mable Sexsmith, who was alleged to have been arrested with Dr. Webster and later freed, is said to be a Lake county resident making her home with her uncle just east of Loon Lake. She is said to have talked freely of her acquaintance with the accused man saying in part. I first met Dr. Webster at a rooming house in west Adams street. I think the number was 1913. I was living there when Dr. Webster came and engaged a room in October, 1910," said the girl. "We became acquainted and were friendly. He lived there several weeks and went away."

I heard of his marriage in January, that is the first I ever knew of Mrs. Bessie Webster. Early in June Dr. Webster talked to me of his wife. He told me he believed she was unfaithful and said he wanted to get evidence on which to get a divorce from her. He asked me to do detective work for him. I finally agreed to do it.

I was out of employment then; from the way he represented the case to me, I could see no reason why I should not accept the employment. He told me about the circumstances of the marriage and said his wife had refused to allow him to get a divorce, as he said she had once agreed to do. Within a few days he brought Mrs. Webster to the west Adams street house to live.

I am the woman she referred to when she caused trouble with Dr. Webster after she suspected the 'woman with the blonde wig.' After that I had to give up the work, I told Dr. Webster of much that I had seen.

Although I never learned positively anything against Mrs. Webster I was satisfied she was making life miserable for him. Soon after she suspected that I was a detective she moved away. I did not see anything of her after that.

I was never in love with Dr. Webster, nor he with me. We were good friends. I knew nothing about the reported affairs with other women. I did not know he was married to any one except the woman he hired me to shadow. Dr. Webster and I never were engaged.

Miss Sexsmith is employed as stenographer in the office of her uncle, J. E. Sexsmith, a general contractor at 105 west Monroe street.

Mable has nothing to conceal in this case, said Mr. Sexsmith. She took the work from Dr. Webster when my business was at a standstill on account of labor troubles. She took the employment for the same reason that she would accept a position as stenographer—because she wanted employment. She has told me all she knows about the case. I advised her to make a free statement to the newspapers."

Roasted Victim Alive.

An almost unbelievably cruel happening has come to light at Hiroshima, Japan. There a man and his wife have been arrested for willfully cremating a live man. The prisoners were in charge of a crematorium, and while at work a faint voice coming out of a coffin begged for fresh air. The couple took no notice, however, and proceeded to apply fire, roasting the man alive.

Good Advice for Preacher.

Among the stories related by the late Rev. Dr. A. F. Pierson was one of a marble-cutter, with chisel and hammer, working a block of stone into a statue. A preacher who was looking on said: "I wish I could, on heart of stone, deal such transforming blows!" "Perhaps you might," was the workman's quiet answer. "If, like me, you worked on your knees."

GERMAN MONEY GOES ABROAD

People of the Fatherland Put by a Billion Dollars a Year, and Invest It.

When the German reichstag a few weeks ago discussed the introduction of American securities in that country there was general surprise at the amount of German capital which was shown to be invested in foreign paper.

But the secretary of the interior, Dr. Delbrueck, stated that the people of Germany are saving every year about $1,000,000,000, and that necessarily a large part of this amount must go abroad to find profitable investment. These savings go into other avenues besides mere purchase of securities.

In 1905, according to a writer in Moody's Magazine, German investments in foreign countries, outside of holdings of securities, amounted to about 9,225 millions of marks (2,201.6 millions of dollars), in which the United States and Canada represented at least 2,750 millions of marks ($686,300,000).

The holdings of foreign securities were estimated at more than sixteen billions of marks or some millions less than four billions of dollars. The real aggregate of all investments, however, is higher still than these figures express, as not all German participation in commercial or financial enterprises in foreign countries could be taken into account.

Scarcely anywhere in the world is a large issue brought out without the German capitalists being invited to participate. Only a short time ago a large Hungarian loan was placed in Germany and oversubscribed for several times. A Turkish bond issue of large amount was willingly taken, and just when the "emigration of German capital," as they used to call it over there, was being discussed in connection with the proposed listing of St. Paul shares on the Berlin exchange papers reminded the banks that they had to be in readiness for the Chilean loan, soon to be expected.

Courses in Agriculture.

For some time the matter of affording instruction in agriculture in the rural schools has been discussed. There is a very pronounced trend toward the study of scientific farming, as is shown by the number of students in the colleges established for the purpose. There have been a number of difficulties in the way, however, of carrying out such a plan. To be on a scope to make it really worth while it would require not only securing competent instructors but some apparatus and land. An experiment along this line is thus mentioned by The Rochester Post-Express: An agricultural course has been added to the curriculum of a Connecticut rural high school and preparations are under way to make the work thorough and practical. The extension of educational work in agriculture, such as many of the leading colleges in the country are doing successfully, to secondary schools is a logical move. Rural high schools in particular can offer opportunities to their students in this way which will be of great value to those who cannot go to universities, and which will at the same time stimulate interest to further study of the same sort on the part of those who do enter higher institutions of learning.—Schenectady Gazette.

Egypt's Wonderful Pyramids.

Scattered about Egypt the only one of the seven wonders of the world which are still standing as sentinels of the very distant past, are the pyramids, 70 in number, and, as Thomas Fuller describes them, "dotting with age, have forgotten the names of their founders." To fully appreciate the wonderful work required in their construction, a historian has reckoned that it required 100,000 men ten years to build the pyramid of Giza and to build the great pyramid it required at least 20 years more and consumed a mass of stone weighing not less than 6,800,000 tons.

POSSIBILITIES OF THE SMALL DAIRY FARM AS A MONEY MAKER DEMONSTRATED

On the 20-Acre Dairy Farm.

The dairy department of the State university has given out a summary of results secured on the 20-acre farm for the first two years of its operation. The farm is run as a practical business proposition. The proceeds from the herd must pay all running expenses and return a reasonable profit above interest on investment, etc. The farm is made to produce all the feed used. Alfalfa and corn silage furnished the basis of the ration. Straw is the only thing purchased in the feed line, and this is used primarily for bedding purposes. The herd is composed of grade Holsteins.

Accurate records are kept involving all labor expense, etc. Returns from the farm for the two consecutive years are presented on a per acre production basis. An average annual production of 4,185 pounds milk and 155 pounds butter fat per acre was secured. With milk valued at $1.63 per cwt., and the calf and manure product at $15.90, the gross income per acre equals $79.93. Cost of production per acre amounted to $42.04, which leaves a net income of $37.89 per acre where the milk product was sold. In case of butter fat valued at 25 cents per pound at the creamery with the value of skim, calf and manure figured at $24.94, the gross income amounted to $58.34 per acre. Deducting the cost of production, $42.04, the net profit per acre was $16.30.

These results demonstrate to good advantage the possibilities of a small dairy where good cows are kept and where the feed is produced on the farm. They are no more than can be realized on any farm which is properly managed.

SOME PROBLEMS OF POULTRY HUSBANDRY

Poultry House.

By D. E. BARTO, University of Illinois.

The last Illinois legislature provided for the establishing of courses of instruction in poultry husbandry at the state university by appropriating the sum of $10,000 for the purchase of land to be used in poultry work, and in addition gave an annual appropriation of $5,000 for the maintenance and development of a poultry department. It is quite possible that the necessity of exercising rigid economy and good business ability in making the funds allotted for this work go as far as possible to make the most satisfactory showing will add to its instructive value and interest for the people of the state for whom it is established.

The first question to be answered is in regard to selecting the place where the poultry are to be raised and kept. This is no less important in the case of poultry growing than of fruit growing.

While it is true that rough and infertile land may often be used to advantage in poultry raising, it is also true that no soil can be too productive for successful poultry business; for it is generally recognized by poultry men now that for a money-making proposition it is not a poultry farm that pays best, but poultry on the farm.

The poultry is to be considered one, and if you please, the most important, feature of the farm system, but the soil must be made to produce other crops at the same time, and the larger and more varied these crops greater the profits. The poultry is to rotate as far as possible in its occupation of the ground like the other crops. And so this university is very fortunate in securing for its poultry work 20 acres of very productive land in a good state of cultivation.

There are other conditions that must be considered in choosing a site for the place where chickens are to be raised or kept for egg production. The "lay of the land" on a poultry ranch is one of the factors that make for success or trouble and loss.

Remember that the time of the year when the operations of the poultry yards count the fastest for profits is in the winter and early spring. Then every balmy breeze and ray of sunshine and warm hillside with a bit of green herbage can be quickly coined into cash if they can be coaxed into the open windows of the houses or found within the yards.

Never locate the poultry plant on land that is wet and sour. The most desirable site is on the ground that slopes gently to the south and east, where the soil is sandy or gravelly. Here no water will stand in pools on the surface for the fowls to drink when it has become polluted with the droppings of the flock, and during a considerable part of the winter the yards will be dry and attractive during the day for the birds to take their exercise.

Moreover, one of the most desirable combinations for the poultryman to make on his farm is fruit and poultry, and the south and east slopes are best adapted for many kinds of fruit. This is the character of the 20 acres that have been purchased by the university for the poultry plant.

It is the purpose of those in charge of the poultry work at the university to carefully study all the natural conditions of this land and try to develop practical and profitable combinations of poultry and other crops that may prove of help and interest to others who are considering going into that kind of an undertaking.

At present about five acres on the east side of the farm are in alfalfa and the rest has a crop of corn growing on it. The first poultry house to be built is being placed on the edge of the south slope where the winter sun will be most effective in giving warmth and cheer to the house and yards.

In a later article a description of the houses to be used in the Illinois poultry yards and a discussion of the different systems of housing poultry and the things to be sought for and the things to be avoided will be given.

Science of Farming.

There is a science, an art and a business of farming. Science tells the man that he should buy feeds to balance up to the cow ration, but the business end of his operations indicates, he thinks, that he had better not do so. This short-lease system is a bad habit and must be overcome, but you will never get the long-term lease system by abusing the landlord and his farm. The man who takes best care of the farm he rents stays the longest and makes the most money. To spend our time on half-fed cattle and half-fed pigs is the acme of foolishness, and no man who does any thinking will do it. If a landowner is not willing to feed his acres well no sensible man will rent his farm, and just as true no land owner with any business ability will rent his farm to a man who will not feed his cattle well and intelligently. There are people on both sides who do these things, but they are both losers in the long run and are the violent kickers.

Manuring Orchards.

A horse will eat oats from a heap. We cannot feed plants and trees that way. It is dead wrong to pile manure up to the body of a tree, although the bulk of the manure is not lost, as the plant foods will be soaked out by rains and finally find their way into the soil and to the roots of the trees. The better way is to let the trees and plants feed as the horse feeds while on pasture—over the whole ground.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Mail Dispatched by Aviator Carriers

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Not to be outdone by the British postal authorities in the carrying of mails through the air, the latest method of letter transportation, Postmaster General Hitchcock gave his consent to the establishment of an experimental aeroplane mail route between one of the outlying branches of the Brooklyn, N. Y., postoffice and the aerodrome at Nassau boulevard, Long Island, during the international aviation meet held there.

Aviators and their employees who were stationed on the field throughout the meet were able thereby to receive their mail almost as quickly as though they were in one of the large cities. A special postal station was established at the aviation field and a temporary postmaster appointed by the department to conduct the business of receiving and dispatching mails and selling postage stamps. During the time of the meet officials of the postoffice department will watch with close interest the experiments of carrying mail by aeroplanes.

This is not the first instance in which United States mails have been officially authorized to be carried by aeroplanes. In November of last year Postmaster General Hitchcock formally approved arrangements for the carrying of a pouch of mail from the trans-Atlantic steamer Kaiserin Augusta Victoria, outbound to Europe, back to New York city while the vessel was off the Long Island coast. Aviator J. A. D. McCurdy was to have attempted this first official aerial transmission of mails, but because of stormy weather the attempt was not made.

The first successful aeroplane letter route was that opened recently by the British postal administration, which began a series of experiments in the carrying of mails by aeroplane from Hendon, England, to Windsor Castle, a distance of almost twenty miles. Four aviators with two biplanes and two monoplanes were engaged in the work and about one hundred thousand letters constituted the first delivery. These experiments have been watched with considerable interest by the United States postoffice authorities, who are of the opinion that the day when letters will be forwarded from city to city by airships is not far distant.

Peace Reigning Among Chinese Tong

ACCORDING to Washington officials, for eight months not a shot has been fired and not a knife flashed by a member of any of the Chinese societies, or tongs, in the United States. There is a truce among these feudists who have for years spread terror among the Chinese districts of the large cities. Since the week of the Chinese peace banquet in New York, where Chiao Chung-tan, first secretary of the Chinese legation in Washington, expounded his peace doctrine there has been no tong war.

Mr. Chiao, before coming to this country, was a schoolmaster in an obscure district in China. He has been with the legation a little more than a year. He speaks no English when he can avoid it. He has been studying the language, but has made little progress. Although an aristocrat by birth and education, he is distinctly a man of the people, and his hold on all classes is little short of wonderful.

Mr. Chiao attended the peace banquet in New York as the special emissary of the emperor. At that time the agitation in favor of cutting off the queue was at its height in China. Mr. Chiao favored the adoption of western dress and mode of living, particularly in this country, believing that it would weaken the hold of secret societies on the Celestian mind.

In his address Mr. Chiao urged his views on the banquet, and at the conclusion of his remarks one of the leaders came forward with a pair of shears and requested him to cut off the "pig-tail." Mr. Chiao complied, and before the evening was over, he had amputated about 50 of the queues, each man carrying his switch away with him.

The tong wars in this country, more than anything else, have been responsible for the hostile legislation in this country. From the legation in Washington, men have been sent to the various tong headquarters, while special representatives of the Chinese government have been sent out for conferences with tong leaders. But they effected little. Then the Chinese government assigned the former schoolmaster to the task of peacemaker.

Uncle Sam Has Glut of Gold on Hand

SUPPOSING you had a billion dollars in gold in a vault. Well, if you did you would be as rich as your Uncle Samuel, and you would feel satisfied if your wife paid more than $1.38 for a new "lid" and bought more than one each season. And you probably would feel just as secure as Sam, for he feels that he is not going to "go broke" for at least twenty years.

Your governmental uncle has a billion dollars in gold stored away, and he is buying gold at the rate of about $120,000,000 a year, on the average, so that, at the end of twenty years for which he feels assured of having all the coin he needs, he should have at least $3,400,000,000 in gold on hand, subject to your call. He feels complacent over the outlook.

George Roberts says the government has a thousand million gold coins in its vaults, and George Roberts knows because he saw 'em counted. He says it is enough to last us for a generation and he and Uncle Sam are not going to make any more gold coins until the twenty years are up and the pretty new gold coins are so badly used up that it will be time to call them in and send them to the melting pot.

That's the reason, also, why the mints of the country were closed in some instances and in others restricted to the making of pennies and the smaller coins. The new policy of the government issuing certificates against the bullion in the mint instead of making the money out of the gold has saved the government $100,000,000, according to Director of the Mint Roberts, and one of the reasons for this is that the people prefer the paper money for actual use and for circulation.

"We have enough gold coins now for a generation to come," said Director Roberts. "When there is any considerable demand on the treasury it is always for foreign exports, and the bullion is always preferred to the coin for this purpose."

New Ships Veritable Floating Forts

THE sister dreadnaughts, Florida and Utah, the mightiest warships in the American navy, will soon be in fighting trim, according to the calculations of the naval experts. The Utah, just placed in commission, will shortly enter the docks of the New York navy yard to receive her finishing touches. This work involves the installation of conning towers and the sights of her guns. As much secrecy surrounds these devices, they are invariably constructed at a government yard instead of in a plant of a private builder. The Florida is already in commission and will be ready for active service simultaneously with the Utah.

These two floating fortresses will be attached to the first division of the Atlantic fleet, the Florida becoming the regular flagship of the division and the Utah occupying that signal relation whenever her sister goes to dock for overhauling. Capt. Harry S. Knapp will command the Florida and Capt. Henry S. Benson the Utah. Greater in every respect, size, armor and armament, the Florida and Utah will wrest from the Delaware and North Dakota the honor of being the most powerful war vessels afloat.

The displacement of the two new dreadnaughts is 21,225 tons each. Ten 12-inch guns distributed in five turrets and 16 five-inch rifles constitute the main batteries. The hulls are belted with armor ranging from 9 to 11 inches in thickness, while steel walls, a full foot through, protect the turrets. The ships are 521 feet long and are equipped with turbine engines, generating 28,000 horsepower, which it is expected will drive them at a speed greater than the 20.75 knots required by the navy department's specifications. Each of these castles of the sea will be manned by a crew of 60 officers and 888 men.

The Simple Life.

Anna Maria Wilhelmína Pickering, in her "Memoirs," edited by her son, tells a Yorkshire incident which contains a great deal of human nature. Variety splices life; the plain is monotonous, until its extent entitles it to the name of prairie or desert, and it gains interest through vastness.

There was an old couple in the village whom I used often to go to see. One day, when I found them sitting, one on each side of the fire, the old man said to me:

"Well, t' missis and me, we've been married nigh on 60 years, and we've never had one quarrel."

The old woman looked at me, with a twinkle in her eye, and said:

"It war verie conscientious, but varie dool!"—Youth's Companion.

A Student of Humanity.

Mrs. Carter and her cook, says the Brooklyn Citizen, were discussing the murder which had harrowed the dusky citizens of the countryside.

"Will dey hang him fer killin' of his wife, Miss Cyarter?"

"We can't tell yet, Aunt Jinny. The court will decide. Of course, if they prove he did it on purpose—"

"Done it a purpose! Law, Miss Cyarter, in course he kilt his wife a purpose! Honey, ain't I done been married? Don't I know men?"

Nipped in the Bud.

"Until now I have never had to ask for a small loan."

"And until now I have never been obliged to refuse you."

SOUND SLEEP

Can Easily Be Secured.

"Up to 2 years ago," a woman writes, "I was in the habit of using both tea and coffee regularly."

"I found that my health was beginning to fail, strange nervous attacks would come suddenly upon me, making me tremble so excessively that I could not do my work while they lasted; my sleep left me and I passed long nights in restless discomfort. I was filled with a nervous dread as to the future."

"A friend suggested that possibly tea and coffee were to blame, and I decided to give them up, and in casting about for a hot table beverage, which I felt was an absolute necessity, I was led by good fortune to try Postum."

"For more than a year I have used it three times a day and expect, so much good has it done me, to continue its use during the rest of my life."

"Soon after beginning the use of Postum, I found, to my surprise, that, instead of tossing on a sleepless bed through the long, dreary night, I dropped into a sound, dreamless sleep the moment my head touched the pillow."

"Then I suddenly realized that all my nervousness had left me, and my appetite, which had fallen off before, had at once been restored so that I ate my food with a keen relish."

"All the nervous dread has gone. I walk a mile and a half each way to my work every day and enjoy it. I find an interest in everything that goes on about me that makes life a pleasure. All this I owe to leaving off tea and coffee and the use of Postum, for I have taken no medicine." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

"There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

"Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

SYNOPSIS.

Jack Keith, a Virginian, now a border-plainsman, is riding along the Santa Fe trail on the lookout for roaming war parties of savages. He notices a camp fire at a distance and then sees a team attached to a wagon and at full gallop pursued by men on ponies. When Keith reaches the wagon, the riders have massacred two men and departed. He searches the victims' pockets and finds a pocket watch with a woman's portrait. He resolves to hunt down the murderers. Keith is arrested at Carson City, charged with the murder, his accuser being a ruffian named Black Bart. He goes to jail fully realizing the peril of swift border justice. A companion in his cell is a negro, who tells him in a low voice that he knows the Keith family back in Virginia. He says one of the murdered men was John Bibber, the other Gen. Willie Wain, formerly an officer in the Confederate army. The plainsman and the negro escape from the cell, and later the two fugitives become lost in the sand desert. They come upon a cabin and find its lone occupant to be a young girl, whom Keith recognizes as a sister he saw at Carson City. The girl explains that she came there in search of a brother who had deserted from the army. A Mr. Hawley induced her to come to the cabin while he sought to locate her brother. Hawley appears, and Keith in hiding recognizes him as Black Bart. Hawley tries to make love to the girl. There is a terrific battle in the darkened room in which Keith overcomes Black Bart.

CHAPTER XI.—(Continued.)

"The action has only really begun," he assured her, still retaining his hold upon her hand. "This was merely a preliminary skirmish, and you must prepare to bear your part in what follows. We have settled Mr. Hawley for the present, and now must deal with his gang."

"Oh, what would I have done if you had not been here?"

"Let us not think about that; we were here, and now have a busy night before us if we get away safely. Give me the rope first. Good! Now, Neb, you must know how to use this—not too tight, but without leaving any play to the arms; take the knife out of his belt. Now for the cloth, Miss Maclaire."

"Please do not call me that!"

"But you said it didn't make any difference what I called you."

"I thought it didn't then, but it does now."

"Oh, I see; we are already on a new footing. Yet I must call you something."

She hesitated just long enough for him to notice it. Either she had no substitute ready at hand, or else doubted the advisability of confiding her real name under present circumstances to one so nearly a stranger.

"You may call me Hope."

"A name certainly of good omen," he returned. "From this moment I shall forget Christie Maclaire, and remember only Miss Hope. All right, Neb; now turn over a chair, and sit your man up against it. He will rest all the easier in that position until his gang arrives."

He thrust his head out of the door, peering cautiously forth into the night, and listening. A single horse, probably the one Hawley had been riding, was tied to a dwarfed cottonwood near the corner of the cabin. Nothing else living was visible.

"I am going to round up our horses, and learn the condition of Hawley's outfit," he announced in a low voice. "I may be gone for fifteen or twenty minutes, and, meanwhile, Miss Hope, get ready for a long ride. Neb, stand here close beside the door, and if any one tries to come in brain him with your gun-stick. I'll rap three times when I return."

He slipped out into the silent night, and crept cautiously around the end of the dark cabin. The distinct change in the girl's attitude of friendship toward him, her every evident desire that he should think well of her, together with the providential opportunity for escape, had left him full of confidence. The gambler had played blindly into their hands, and Keith was quick enough to accept the advantage. It was a risk to himself, to be sure, thus turning again to the northward; yet the clear duty he owed the girl left such a choice almost imperative. He certainly could not drag her along with him on his flight into the wild Comanche country extending beyond the Canadian. She must, at the very least, be first returned to the protection of the semi-civilization along the Arkansas. After that had been accomplished, he would consider his own safety. He wondered if Hope was her name, and whether it was the family nickname, or her given name. That she was Christie Maclaire had no question, yet that artistic embellishment was probably merely used for the work of the concert.

Both he and Hawley could easily be mistaken as to her identity, and, indeed, she had openly denied the fact. Yet she had all seem to be that kind, with mentally contrasted her numerous others whom he had met intimately known along the frontier. It was difficult to assign with that class; she must be originally from some excellent East, and been driven to necessity; she was more to be pitied than blamed. Keith held no views of life—his own ex- had been too rough and for that—yet he clung to naulously to an ideal of womanhood which could not be lowered. However interested he might otherwise feel, no Christie Maclaire could ever find entrance into the deeps of his heart, where dwelt alone the memory of his mother.

He found the other horses turned into the corral, and was able, from their restless movements, to decide their numbered eight. A fire, nearly extinguished, glowed dully at the farther corner of the enclosure, and he crawled close enough to distinguish the recumbent forms of men sleeping about it on the ground. Apparently no guard had been set, the fellows being worn out from their long ride, and confident of safety in this isolated spot. Besides, Hawley had probably assumed that duty, and told them to get whatever sleep they could. However, the gate of the corral opened beside their fire, and Keith dare not venture upon roping any of their ponies, or leading them out past where they slept. There might be clippers in the cabin with which he could cut the wires, yet if one of the gang awoke, and discovered the herd absent, it would result in an alarm, and lead to early pursuit. It was far safer to use their own ponies. He would lead Hawley's horse quietly ly any trail, and even that little would be quickly obliterated by the first puff of wind. As they drew in toward the river valley this plain would change into sand dunes, baffling and confusing, but no matter how hard they pressed forward, it must be daylight long before they could hope to reach these, and this would give him opportunity to spy out some familiar landmark which would guide them to the ford. Meanwhile, he must head as directly north as possible, trusting the horses to find footing.

It was plains instinct, or rather long training in the open, which enabled him to retain any true sense of direction, for beyond the narrow fringe of cottonwoods along the stream, nothing was visible, the eyes scarcely able even to distinguish where earth and sky met. They advanced across a bare level, without elevation or depression, yet the sand appeared sufficiently solid, so that their horses were forced into a swinging lode, and they seemed to fairly press aside the black curtain, which as instantly swung shut once more, and closed them in. The pounding hoofs made little noise, and they pressed steadily onward, closely bunched together, so as not to lose each other, dim, spectral shadows fit-

"I possess a passing acquaintance," he answered, uncertain yet how much to tell her, but tempted to reveal all in test of her real character. "Few do not who live along the Kansas border."

"Do you mean he is a notoriously bad character?"

"I have never heard of his being held up as a model to the young, Miss Miss Hope," he returned more soberly, convinced that she truly possessed no real knowledge regarding the man, and was not merely pretending innocence. "I had never heard him called Hawley before, and, therefore, failed to recognize him under that respectable name. But I knew his voice the moment he entered the cabin, and realized that some devilment was afoot. Every town along this frontier has his record, and I've met him maybe a dozen times in the past three years. He is known as 'Black Bart' in a gambler by profession, a desperado by reputation, and a cur by nature. Just now I suspect him of being even deeper in the mire than this."

He could tell by the quick clasp of her hands on the pommel of the saddle the effect of his words, but waited until the silence compelled her to speak.

"Oh, I didn't know! You do not believe that I ever suspected such a thing? That I ever met him there understanding who he was?"

"No, I do not," he answered. "What I overheard between you convinced me you were the victim of deceit. But your going to that place alone was a most reckless act."

She lifted her hand to her eyes, her head drooping forward.

"Wasn't it what he told me—the outstation of a ranch?"

(TO BE CONTINUED.)

TRAINING IN GOOD MANNERS

Begin When Boy Is Young, and Politeness Is Bound to Become Second Nature.

Long before I had any sons of my own I made up my mind that, if I ever had the training of a boy, I should begin, as soon as he could understand anything, to teach him the small things that constitute good manners. So many boys I have known, and men, too, who at heart are good and kind and really refined, yet lack so large a part of the little courtesies that it is hard to believe they have been brought up. In most cases it is the fault of the mother. She feels that it is much more important to form the character of a little boy, that his manners can wait till he is older. The result is that one sees boys and men who rarely forget to be polite outside of their homes, and yet seem to think it unnecessary to treat their own mother in the same way.

My view is that there is no need to neglect the character because you pay attention to the manners. I think I have succeeded. As soon as my first little boy wore trousers I taught him that he must take off his hat as soon as he came into the house or when a lady spoke to him in the street. That he must rise from his chair when I came at the dining table, must never walk out of the room before a lady, and all the other little polite ways we like to see in men. It has never been any trouble to keep him up to these things; he learned so young that it soon became second nature.—Harper's Bazar.

Very Taking Platform.

Governor Dix, at a dinner in the Hotel Manhattan in New York, said of politics:

"Sneering at politics, the Goncourts once said that no party could ever lose office if it gave the people free fireworks every night and free vaudeville every day."

"But I heard of a candidate in the south who went the Goncourts one better."

"Fellow citizens," he shouted from the stump, "my platform is just this: First, no pay for any elected candidate. Second, pensions for all voters."

On Ice.

"Yes," said Alkali Ike, "a couple of cow punchers indulged in a very pretty scientific scrap down at Bad Buck's yesterday."

"It is wonderful how cool those fellows keep under the circumstances," remarked the eastern tourist.

"Yaas, they certainly have to be kept cool, stranger. I believe for some reason or other, their funerals ain't to be for a couple o' days yet."

Mistaken Affability.

"What made our pirate chief compel the prisoner to walk the plank so hastily?" asked the pirate.

"He was one of those cheery and familiar ready-made humorists. The first thing he said when he saw the chief was: 'Oh, you Captain Kidd!'"

BRIBE INQUIRY ON

SENATOR STEPHENSON DENIES GUILT IN PROBE OF ALLEGED GRAFT CHARGE.

ACCUSED GOES ON STAND

Says He Spent More Than $100,000 During Campaign Without Bothering About the Details of the Cost.

Milwaukee, Hoary and bent, United States Senator Stephenson faced his accusers on the witness stand and for three hours answered charges that bribery and corrupt use of money had contributed to his election. He said that, although he spent $107,793 in his campaign, he had little knowledge as to just how it was spent, except that it was not used in violation of the law. The details, he said, he had left to his campaign managers.

As an instance of his ignorance of just where the money went he cited an item of $11,000 for postage.

"Now," declared Senator Stephenson, "I am president of more than a dozen active industries in this state and I have in my employ more than 3,000 men, some of whom have been with me for 50 years. In them I have every confidence."

"I do not pay any attention to the details of these industries. Just so, when my campaign for nomination by the primaries in 1908 came up; I could not lay awake nights trying to figure how the postage was used. I gave sums of money to my managers and told them to carry on a vigorous campaign and do everything to elect me, except that they must keep within the law. I cautioned them not to violate the law in any particular. So far as I know they obeyed me."

Citing proportionately large expenses for advertising, buttons, lithographs, advertising in newspapers and traveling expenses, the witness testified he frequently asked where so much money was going, but, on being told it was a close fight and the state had to be systematically canvassed to elect him, he questioned the matter no further.

ADMIRAL SCHLEY DROPS DEAD

Hero of Battle of Santiago Succumbs to Apoplexy on Street in New York City.

New York.—Rear Admiral Schley, hero of the battle of Santiago, dropped dead from apoplexy on the street here. His death came just a week after the publication of advanced sheets of Admiral F. E. Chadwick's history of the Spanish-American war, in which Schley is completely exonerated for making the famous "loop," that "loop" now being shown as the "brilliant maneuver" of the battle, and the maneuver that accomplished the defeat of the Spanish fleet.

Schley was apparently in perfect health a short time before he fell upon the street on Fifth avenue and Forty-fourth street and died before a doctor could be summoned.

Admiral Schley, the man who smashed the Spanish fleet at Santiago, was one of the leading figures in the American navy for a generation. He was born in Frederick county, Maryland, in 1839. After graduating at Annapolis in 1860 and serving during the Civil war in minor capacities, he was commissioned in 1866 as lieutenant commander.

In 1884 he volunteered for and was placed in command of the expedition sent to search the north polar region for Lieutenant (now Rear Admiral) Greely, and his companions, who had been lost from civilization for nearly two years, and the finding of them in a state of exhaustion and about to die constituted one of the dramatic incidents in arctic exploration.

ALLEN GUILTY, FINED $12,000

Kenosha Millionaire and John R. Collins Admit They Smuggled Jewelry Into This Country.

New York.—Nathan Allen, the millionaire leather manufacturer of Kenosha, Wis., appeared in the United States circuit court and entered a plea of guilty to all the counts in an indictment charging him with smuggling jewelry into the country. He was fined $12,000.

John R. Collins of Memphis, Tenn., organizer of the Southern Coal company, also appeared before Judge Hough and pleaded guilty to the last count in the indictment charging him with smuggling jewelry. His punishment was fixed at a fine of $4,000.

Allen and Collins were indicted in connection with the smuggling of jewelry valued at $150,000, which it is alleged was given to Mrs. Helen Dwyer-Jenkins. Mrs. Jenkins appeared as the principal witness against Allen and Collins before the grand jury.

Three Slain for Revenge.

Monmouth, Ill.—The bodies of William E. Dawson, his wife and their daughter, Georgia, were found in their beds. They had been killed with an ax while asleep. The authorities have sent out a call for the arrest of an ex-convict against whom Dawson is said to have given information which led to conviction on the charge of horse stealing. The man was released from the Joliet penitentiary several months ago and since that time is said to have threatened that he would kill Dawson.

A REMARKABLE CURE FOR DYSPEPSIA

Munyon's Stomach Treatment Performing Miracles.

MUNYON TELLS YOU HOW TO GET WELL FREE OF CHARGE

"A few days ago I received a letter from a young man, who states he is 23 years of age, and has occupied several important positions, but owing to indigestion and inability to sleep he has been unable to concentrate his mind upon his work and has consequently been discharged on the ground of neglect of duty. He goes on to say that he is a young man of steady habits, but for years he has suffered from dyspepsia, which has so affected his nerves that he is unable to sleep, and that it is not neglect upon his part, nor lack of interest in the business, but simply physical weakness. He asks my advice in this matter."

"For the benefit of a large number of those similarly situated, I propose to answer this letter publicly, hoping that it may be the means of helping many who may be affected in this way."

"In the first place, the stomach must be made well before the nerves can be made strong. The nerves must be made strong before one can sleep well. No one is capable of doing his best who is in any way troubled with indigestion or any form of nervousness. The greatest generals have been men of iron nerve and indomitable will. They have had perfect digestion, being able to eat well, and digest all they ate."

"It is said that Napoleon lost the battle of Waterloo because of a fit of indigestion. Grant's enormous reserve power was due to a well-stomach. Abraham Lincoln said that he did not know that he had a stomach. Grover Cleveland, it is said, could work 18 hours a day, and a hearty meal at 2 or 3 o'clock in the morning, go to bed and sleep soundly until 9 o'clock and get up refreshed, ready for a new day's work."

"Pres. Taft is another type of healthy manhood. Who thinks for one moment that he would be the President of the United States today had he been a dyspeptic or affected with some nervous ailment? I claim that two-thirds of all the failures in professional and business life are due to weak and deranged stomachs."

"No business house would care to employ a dyspeptic representative to sell goods for them on the road. One-half the men who stand behind counters today, earning from $15 to $18 a week, will never get beyond these figures for the reason that they are physically weak. They lack the nerve power and commanding strength that come from a good, sound stomach."

"No one cares to hear a dyspeptic preacher. No matter how pious he may be, he is bound to reflect his bilious and unbalanced condition. He will unconsciously inoculate his hearers with his melancholy feelings."

"No one would think of entrusting an important legal case in the hands of a dyspeptic lawyer, any more than he would care to entrust his own life, or that of a dear one, in the hands of a physician who is nervous, irritable or a dyspeptic. Men must have good digestion, strong nerves and vital manhood in order to render a clean, clear-cut decision either in medicine, law or business."

"I believe that more than half of the divorces can be traced to ill health. I want every dyspeptic to try my stomach treatment, for it corrects the forms of indigestion and nervousness. It makes old stomachs almost as good as new. Its marvelous power for digesting food and getting the best out of it makes for good rich, red blood. This, in turn, strengthens the nerves, builds up the general system, and will surely prolong life, and make it a pleasure to live and do the things allotted to us."

through the water, and they could mount on the other shore. This plan settled, he went at it swiftly, riding the captured animal while rounding up the others, and fastening the three to stunted trees on the opposite bank. Everything within the cabin remained exactly as he had left it, and he briefly explained the situation, examining Hawley's bonds again carefully while doing so.

"He'll remain there all right until his men find him," he declared, positively, "and that ought to give us a good six hours' start. Come, Miss Hope, every minute counts now."

He held her arm, not unconscious of its round shapeliness, as he helped her down the rather steep bank through the dense gloom. Then the two men joined hands, and carrying her between them, waded the shallow stream. The horses, not yet sufficiently rested to be frisky, accepted their burdens meekly enough, and, with scarcely a word spoken, the three rode away silently into the gloom of the night.

CHAPTER XII.

Through the Night Shadows.

Keith had very little to guide him, as he could not determine whether this mysterious cabin on the Salt Fork lay to east or west of the usual cattle trail leading down to the Canadian. Yet he felt reasonably assured that the general trend of the country lying between the smaller stream and the valley of the Arkansas would be similar to that with which he was already acquainted. It was merely a wide stretch of sandy desolation, across which their horses would leave scarcely a trail, and even that little would be quickly obliterated by the first puff of wind. As they drew in toward the river valley this plain would change into sand dunes, baffling and confusing, but no matter how hard they pressed forward, it must be daylight long before they could hope to reach these, and this would give him opportunity to spy out some familiar landmark which would guide them to the ford. Meanwhile, he must head as directly north as possible, trusting the horses to find footing.

It was plains instinct, or rather long training in the open, which enabled him to retain any true sense of direction, for beyond the narrow fringe of cottonwoods along the stream, nothing was visible, the eyes scarcely able even to distinguish where earth and sky met. They advanced across a bare level, without elevation or depression, yet the sand appeared sufficiently solid, so that their horses were forced into a swinging lode, and they seemed to fairly press aside the black curtain, which as instantly swung shut once more, and closed them in. The pounding hoofs made little noise, and they pressed steadily onward, closely bunched together, so as not to lose each other, dim, spectral shadows fitting through the night, a very part of that grim desolation surrounding them. No one of the three felt like speaking; the gloomy, brooding desert oppressed them, their vagrant thoughts assuming the tinge of their surroundings; their hope centered on escape. Keith rode, grasping the rein of the woman's horse in his left hand, and bending low in vain effort at picking a path. He had nothing to aim toward, yet sturdy confidence in his expert plantercraft yielded him sufficient sense of direction. He had noted the bark of the cottonwoods, the direction of the wind, and steered a course accordingly straight northward, alert to avert any variation.

The girl rode easily, although in a man's saddle, the stirrups much too long. Keith glanced aside with swift approval at the erectness with which she sat, the loosened rein in her hand, the slight swaying of her form. He could appreciate horsemanship, and the easy manner in which she rode relieved him of one anxiety. It even caused him to break the silence.

"You are evidently accustomed to riding, Miss Hope."

She glanced across at him through the darkness, as though suddenly surprised from thought, her words not coming quickly.

"I cannot remember when I first mounted a horse; in earliest childhood, surely, although I have not ridden much of late. This one is like a rocking chair."

"He belonged to your friend, Mr. Hawley."

She drew a quick breath, her face again turned forward.

"Who—who is that man? Do you know?"

We're now in complete readiness to welcome you to this great store to view with a critical eye the extensive displays of apparel, accessories and fabrics for Fall-merchandise that has been selected from both foreign and domestic markets.

We're prouder of our showing this season than ever, for it represents a most careful and exhaustive study of styles; a far greater assemblage of merchandise than has ever been shown here before, and an uplifting of quality to the highest standard of excellence.

The styles shown at this opening may be relied upon as authentic and practical, for they were personally chosen from fashion sources of recognized authority, and with a view to their practical adaptability to the ideas of our clientele.

RAIL STRIKE IS ON

MEN THROUGHOUT COUNTRY QUIT, FOLLOWING ORDER OF THEIR LEADERS.

QUIET EXODUS ON THE I. C.

Chicago Authorities Prepare to Handle Emergency—Reports From Other Cities Show Great Industrial Walkout Order is Obedied.

Chicago. — The big railroad strike is under way. It started officially when many employees on the Illinois Central and the Harriman lines refused to resume work when, in response to the orders sent out last week, thousands of men in shops all over the system laid down their working tools and marched out.

There was little excitement at the Burnside shops of the Illinois Central when the walkout order went into effect. The men began to leave the works promptly at 10 o'clock, coming out in groups of six or seven.

As the men left the works they passed through the crowd gathered along the tracks without stopping to talk to them. Practically all of these men who left the shops went directly to their homes. There was no movement toward the saloons and they were practically deserted early in the day immediately after the strike.

Between 3,000 to 3,500 men left the Burnside shops before 11 a. m. They included machinists, boiler makers, carmen, painters, carpenters and pit men in their ranks.

Expecting trouble before the day is over, the police of three stations are on the qui vive and prepared to handle any emergency.

The walkout followed the strike order sent out by J. W. Kilne, president of the International Brotherhood of Blacksmiths and Helpers, calling for "all crafts to strike, and for every man to do his duty."

The strike dispatch was sent to the following places, which shows its dimensions: Central, Ill.; Memphis, Tenn.; Oakland, Cal.; Paducah, Ky.; Freeport, Ill.; East St. Louis, Ill.; Kansas City, Mo.; Beaumont, Tex.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; East St. Louis, Ill.; Salt Lake City, Utah; Sacramento, Cal.; East Bakersfield, Cal.; Los Angeles, Cal.; Sparks, Nev.; Comb, Miss.; San Antonio, Tex.; North Platte, Neb., and Tucson, Ariz.

Roughly estimated the number of men expected to sever their connection, temporarily at least, with the Illinois Central and the Harriman lines, runs to 30,000, and they cover a territory embraced in fifteen states throughout the west and south. The figures in this connection are as follows:

Machinists	10,000
Boiler makers	4,000
Blacksmiths	3,000
Carmen	11,000
Clerks	1,000
Miscellaneous workers	1,000
Total	30,000

New Orleans, La. — General Superintendent Clifts of the Illinois Central has announced that the general freight office will accept freight and that the clerical force is ample to handle it. The doors of the freight house remained open only a few hours. Mr. Clifts said he had made arrangements with an independent organization known as the International Car Repairers' union so that its members could take the place of the carmen who went on strike.

HITCHCOCK POSTMAN IN AIR

Head of Post Office Department Carries Pouch of Letters on Trip in Airship.

New York.—Frank H. Hitchcock, postmaster general of the United States, qualified as an aerial mail carrier on Long Island. The postmaster took a seat beside Capt. Paul Beck of the United States army, in the latter's aeroplane, carrying seventy-eight pounds of mail matter. The two made a seven-minute flight to Mineola, where, upon signal, the postmaster general dropped the mail sack to one of Uncle Sam's carriers.

CANNOT BUY A CIGARETTE

Lid Goes On After Arrest of Three Clerks Under Law Passed in 1909.

Minneapolis, Minn.—It requires gum shoes and a long standing acquaintance to get a package of cigarettes in Minneapolis. In most tobacco stores even these credentials are unavailing. The clamping down of the lid followed the arrest of three clerks in cigar stores under the anti-cigarette law passed by the legislature of 1909. A test case will be made.

Postal Savings Has Jubilee. London.—Figures compiled on the recent celebration of the jubilee anniversary of the establishment of the British postoffice savings bank show upward of 8,000,000 depositors in these institutions with $169,000,000 to their credit.

Swedish Cabinet Forced Out. Stockholm.—The Swedish cabinet headed by Premier Lindman has resigned because the general election recently held resulted adversely to the government.

SENATOR ON RACK

INQUIRY INTO STEPHENSON ELECTION IS STARTED.

Sub-Committee of Senate Who Will Investigate Election Composed of 3 Democrats and 3 Republicans.

Milwaukee, Wis. — Sensations similar to those developed in the Lorimer inquiry may come during the investigation into the election of United States Senator Isaac Stephenson of this state, which began here today. The sub-committee of the senate committee on privileges and elections, which is conducting the inquiry, is composed of Senators Heyburn of Idaho, chairman; Bradley of Kentucky, Sub-committee on the Judiciary; and Paynter of Kentucky and Pomeroy of Ohio, Democrats. It was appointed at the last session of congress, when Senator Stephenson admitted in the publication of his election expenses that he had spent $107,000 to insure his election to the United States senate.

"Uncle Ike," as Senator Stephenson is familiarly known, is apparently not worrying about the results of the investigation. He freely admits spending the money, but insists that all his expenditures were well within the limits of the law. The senator's friends say that the mere fact of his complying with the state laws and publishing the full extent of his campaign expenses proves his honesty. Senator Stephenson is one of the richest men in the middle west. His fortune is estimated at $20,000,000, and he owns one of the finest dairy farms in the United States. He is over eighty-two years old, and has been identified with politics ever since the accumulation of his fortune. He has always been noted for his extreme liberality in support of his party.

PARDON FOR CAPT. HAINS

Former Army Officer Convicted of Slaying to Be Released on Order of Governor Dix.

Ossining, N. Y. — Thornton Jenkins Hains, author, is here awaiting the arrival at Sing Sing prison of Governor Dix's formal pardon to the author's brother, Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., the slayer of William E. Annis. The captain has not been told of his approaching pardon, as Warden Kennedy makes it a practice never to allow a prisoner's hopes to be thus raised, lest something happen to disappoint him.

The two brothers will leave for South America soon after the captain's release. He has been studying Spanish in his cell, in the expectation of working in South America when he gets his pardon.

Captain Hains has not been in good health for some time, and a week ago he declared to his brother that he felt he did not have long to live unless he was released soon. His father, General Peter C. Hains, will be here next week to greet him at the prison door as he steps out a free man.

PRESIDENT GUEST AT MISSOURI STATE FAIR SAYS "PROGRESSIVES" WERE CORDIAL.

PLAYS GOLF WITH HADLEY

Nation's Executive Declares Tour Will Clarify All Actions of His Administration Hard to Be Judged in Dark—Is Glad He Visited Iowa.

Sedalia, Mo. — President Taft swung back into Missouri to become the guest of the state fair. He left Iowa behind and in discussing his trip through that state the president declared his reception was most cordial and pleasing.

"I am glad I went to Iowa," he said. "I had no fear that my reception would not be cordial. Some had suggested otherwise, but not Iowans. Perhaps the wishes were father to the thought. At any rate, I wish to testify my gratitude to the governor, to the state officers, to the congressmen of Iowa and to the senators for their cordial reception of me without regard to the question whether they agreed with me in politics, and I want to say the same thing about the people who turned out. I believe they have learned something that I had in my heart to tell them and I guess it has not done them any harm."

Explaining his western trip, President Taft said that while many persons thought that a president should keep to the White house in Washington and while he realized the force of this argument, it was hard to sit at the seat of government with a strong feeling in your breast of a desire for expression of a character that shall not be denunciatory, that shall not be partisan in form, but merely in a quasi-judicial way to state your reasons for your action. He believed it helped clarify the situation to get out into the country and give voice to his views.

On this trip, the president said, he did not wish to appear as a partisan president. "I do not want to lose the character of president of the entire country," he said. "I think a president can act with respect to a great many issues in such a way as to convince those who are his opponents in politics that he is striving to act as fairly as he can in all issues that do not involve party principles, for the benefit of the whole country. The program for the president's stay here gave him an opportunity to play a few holes of golf with Governor Hadley, the first game he has had since the president left for Omaha and the far west. As the president's train pulled into the state fair grounds he was met by an aviator flying a biplane, who led the way.

JACK JOHNSON BALKED

LONDON COURT ENJOINS HIS FIGHT WITH WELLS.

Heavyweights Cannot Battle in Earl's Court on October 2—Lessee Takes Damage Risk.

London.—Three courts of justice were occupied with the affairs of Jack Johnson, the colored heavyweight champion, and his projected match with Bombardier Wells. The outcome of the day's proceedings was a knockout for the champion.

In the Bow street police court evidence was adduced to show that the proposed match would constitute a breach of the peace. The hearing was adjourned for a day.

The vacation court granted the application of the District Railway company, the ground landlord of the Earl court, for an injunction against the lessees of the building to stop the proposed Johnson-Wells fight, subject to damages if the decision is reversed on trial.

Finally, in chambers Judge Lush refused an injunction to restrain Johnson from appearing elsewhere than in the Birmingham hippodrome. In the Bow street proceedings the two fighters, their managers and Promoter White were co-defendants. All were represented by counsel with the exception of Johnson, who said with a flash of his gold-filled teeth: "I appear for myself."

Solicitor General Simon, who represented the government, said the proposed match was a prize fight and therefore clearly illegal. He read the agreements between the principals and promoters, which showed that Johnson was to be paid $30,000 one hour before the fight started, and in addition was to receive one-fifth of the gate money. Wells was to get $10,000 the day after the fight. This, he said, showed the fight to be of a financial rather than a sporting nature.

Big Word Meant an Effort, but This Little Girl Made Brave Attempt.

This incident occurred just after a Jewish holiday. It was in a third grade school in Cleveland in a district of Russian and Hungarian Jews. The teacher was explaining the meaning of the word judicious. She asked the children to give her stories about the word.

After several had given illustrations about the judicious use of money, the teacher said:

"Now give me a story about something judicious, without money in it."

A little girl finally volunteered. She said:

"On our holiday we had roast goose and a whole lot of other Jew dishes."

ESTIMATE THAT TWO HUNDRED DIED IN FLOOD

Heavy Loss of Life at Austin, Pa., Caused by Collapse of Concrete Dam.

WIDE FINANCIAL RUIN

Disaster the Greatest of Its Kind the Country Has Known Since the Bursting of the Dam at Johnstown in 1889—State Police Sent to Patrol the Afflicted Towns.

Austin, Pa.—According to the best estimates obtainable the loss of life that overwhelmed the town of Austin through the giving way of the dam of the Bayless Pulp and Paper company will total at least 200. This estimate was made by Chief of Police D. E. Baker, who knew all the inhabitants of the little town, after he had made a second revision of his hastily gathered census of the survivors and completed his pitiful little problem in subtraction.

The property loss will exceed $6,000,000, and it is the general opinion that the town never will be rebuilt. Two, at least, of the large plants never will be rebuilt, and a majority of the business men of the place have been ruined financially.

State Police Guard Ruins. A battalion of state police surrounded the town and no person without a pass was permitted to enter. Reports from Costello and points farther down the Sinnemahoning grow more encouraging. At Costello, while there was a heavy financial loss, it was said that not more than three persons were dead. Beyond that point no fatalities had been reported.

Homeless Given Shelter. The homeless have all been provided with shelter. On the outskirts of Austin are a number of houses which were vacated by workers in the Good-year mill when that plant was dismantled. These houses have been filled with homeless people. The residents of Keating Summit have taken in the others, several hundred in number. Provisions continue to arrive in large quantities and there will be no suffering for lack of food.

Many evidences of the tremendous power of the flood were seen by the workers in the town. Engines weighing 25 tons had been rolled along the ground, an immense steel hopper was carried a half mile and thrown through the side of a house, and steel freight cars were bent double.

The greatest damage was done by the piles of cut lumber swept before the flood. This acted as a great battering ram, which swept buildings from their foundations and unquestionably caused the death of scores who otherwise might have escaped after surviving the first rush of the water.

Tons Tossed Like Bubbles. A section of the concrete wall of the dam itself, weighing over twenty tons, was carried more than a mile. A carload of paper weighing 23,000 pounds was washed from the pulp mill to the main street district. The Buffalo & Susquehanna passenger station was washed 300 feet away to Harvey and Cullen's mill pond.

The big mill at the Goodyear Lumber company, which was dismantled three months ago in order that the machinery might be used on Potato creek, was burned. A big brick kiln with 40 chimneys collapsed as the mill burned.

Will Start Investigation. Investigation into the cause of the breaking of the dam will be started at once, according to officials in charge of the work of rescue. That there had been constant danger of the catastrophe, due to the instability of the structure under great water pressure, was known to many residents of the town, and a thorough investigation is demanded by many of the survivors.

Spectators, many of whom barely escaped being victims of the disaster, and hundreds of persons from surrounding towns, looked down from the steep hillsides of Austin and Costello through a veil of fog to see the wreckage there of about 400 houses, a score of business blocks, three churches and several large lumber mills, and three miles further down the river at Costello the ruins of more than fifty buildings.

The flood did not spend its force until it raced for more than ten miles from the reservoir. Wharton, still farther on, suffered somewhat, but is practically intact. The loss of life at Costello, where the residents had more warning, is believed to be but three.

Joy of Living. Everything we endure patiently is a key to something beautiful we could never enter otherwise. By the holiness of study a scholar learns to get joy out of books and stones and trees. By the hard road of discipline a man learns to get joy out of everyday living.—Smiles.

Good Nature, Carried Too Far. "I sh'd like to do man's duty always good-natured," said Uncle Eben; "but I can't be 'pe'flectly 'him sometimes of bein' jes' a little bit deceivin'."

ITALIAN FLAG FLOATS OVER TURKISH CITY

Troops of King Victor, Without Serious Opposition, Take Possession of Tripoli.

MAY MEAN A RELIGIOUS WAR

Possibility That Conflagration Started in the East Will Spread Over the World—Turkey Said to Be Mobilizing Entire Army.

Tripoli.—Italy's squadron, which had been blockading the port, began a bombardment of the city at ten o'clock September 30.

This action followed the refusal of the Turkish officials to permit a peaceful landing and occupation of the town.

The government at Constantinople changed its decision not to defend Tripoli, and war in reality seems certain to be the result.

Appeal for Religious War. The Ottoman officials will attempt to stir the Arabs and other Mohammedans into action and create a religious war.

Mahmoud Scheffet Pasha, minister of war, telegraphed to the Turkish commandant at Tripoli to defend the territory with his utmost energy and to appeal to the religion of the people.

It is probable the Italian declaration of war and the attack upon the Turkish torpedo boat destroyers at Prevesa decided the Turkish government to reverse its position of non-resistance.

Landing of Italian Troops. London.—Telegrams from Tripoli describe events after the Italian landing. The message concludes:

"The governor general of Tripoli issued an order to his troops not to open fire first when the Italians approach. Benghazi and Derna decided not to oppose the landing of the Italians."

Two destroyers, the Garibaldi and Lancelotti, landed officers. The officers visited the Italian consul general and the latter subsequently visited his British colleague and asked leave for the few remaining Italians to find refuge on a vessel in the harbor. This request was granted.

Great Panic in Town. This announcement caused a great panic. Men, women and children rushed along the streets in great confusion, carrying all of their belongings on which they could lay hold in the brief time at their disposal.

"All the consulates are filled with

Sympathizer With Sports. "The rivalry among the political parties is getting to be something fierce," "Yes," replied young Mrs. Torkins cheerily, "you'd almost think they were contending for something as a baseball pennant."

Trying to Please. "You call this cake angel food?" said the harsh husband. "Yes, dear," said the timid wife, "but if the diet doesn't seem exactly what you want, here are some delfed crabs."

panic-stricken foreigners. Each consulate is flying an enormous flag in order that the neutrality buildings may easily be distinguished by the invading troops. The German flag flies over the Italian consulate and the Catholic church.

Tunisian and Greek sponge boats in the harbor are filled with refugees.

Caneva Goes to Command. Rome.—General Caneva was received by Foreign Minister Di San Giuliano and the ministers of war and the navy and received his final instructions before leaving for Naples to assume command of the expedition to Tripoli.

He also saw Premier Giolitti, who counseled firmness, asserting that Italy's rights and intentions should be accompanied, however, with extreme caution to avoid unnecessary bloodshed or incidents which might cause complications.

The premier said the government was ready to place at the general's disposal all the means necessary to reach the desired object with the least possible losses. He closed by saying:

"All Italy wishes to follow the expedition, all Italian hearts beat for their brave brothers who are risking their lives to uphold the country's dignity and prestige."

Charter Vessels as Transports. All the mail steamers chartered for the expedition have been fitted out for the transportation of troops and vacated by their owners' officers and crews, who have been replaced by naval officers and sailors. Only the regular engineers of the lines remain at their posts.

The soldiers who are going to the front have been instructed in regard to the religion and superstitions of the people of Tripoli. The government has taken this action in order to impress the Tripolitans with the true meaning of Italy's action and the soldiers have been given strict orders to respect the susceptibilities of the people and make them understand that Italy means to bring the advantages of civilization to Tripoli.

The soldiers have been instructed to make this view manifest to the Tripolitans and do it in such a way as not to hurt their feelings.

The declaration of war has been received with enthusiasm in all parts of the country.

Turkey Mobilizes Army. Constantinople.—A general army mobilization has been ordered in all the provinces. From all parts of the interior of the empire, from the sheikhs and Mussulmans of Tripoli, fiery telegrams have been received by the sultan, expressing their readiness to shed every drop of blood for Islam.

At Saloniki bloody encounters have occurred between the authorities and the Italians desirous of leaving. Similar scenes are reported from other big centers.

An anti-Italian boycott has begun in many cities. Niaz Bey and Enver Bey, heroes of the revolution, announce their readiness to march with numerous volunteers to Tripoli.

Shark Held to Nozzle. While the dredge Zeta was working lately at Gosford, New South Wales, the suction pipe became choked. It was found that a six-foot shark had been drawn across the nozzle, and was held there by suction.

Significant Observation. "Truth," said the orator who quotes, "is at the bottom of a well." "Yes," replied Farmer Cornsogel; "an' ain't it discouragin' how the wells hey been runnin' dry this summer."

WEAK, ILL AND MISERABLE.

How many people suffer from backache, headaches and dizziness without realizing the cause? These symptoms of kidney trouble are too serious to neglect.

Mrs. Charles Mann, Osakis, Minn., says: "From a large, healthy woman, I ran down until I was a mere shadow. I could not walk across the room without falling into a chair, utterly exhausted. I spent hundreds of dollars on doctors without relief. Since taking Doan's Kidney Pills, I have regained my lost weight and do not have a moment's uneasiness or pain. They actually saved my life."

"ECZEMA ITCHED SO BADLY I COULDN'T STAND IT."

"I suffered with eczema on my neck for about six months, beginning by little pimples breaking out. I kept scratching till the blood came. It kept getting worse. I couldn't sleep nights any more. It kept itching for about a month, then I went to a doctor and got some liquid to take. It seemed as if I was going to get better. The itching stopped for about three days, but when it started again, was even worse than before. The eczema itched so badly I couldn't stand it any more."

"I went to a doctor and he gave me some medicine, but didn't do any good. We have been having Cuticura Remedies in the house, so I decided to try them. I had been using Cuticura Soap, so I got me a box of Cuticura Ointment, and washed off the affected part with Cuticura Soap three times a day, and then put the Cuticura Ointment on. The first day I put it on, it relieved me of itching so I could sleep all that night. It took about a week, then I could see the scab come off. I kept the treatment up for three weeks, and my eczema was cured."

"My brother got his face burned with gun-powder, and he used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The people all thought he would have scars, but you can't see that he ever had his face burned. It was simply awful to look at before the Cuticura Remedies (Soap and Ointment) cured it." (Signed) Miss Elizabeth Gehrl, Forest City, Ark., Oct. 16, 1910. Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 17, Boston.

Failed to Scare Tim.

A plan was formed to scare a certain Tim Casey, living in a village near Belfast, on his returning from market by night past the churchyard. As he went by, the usual turnip, white sheet, and lantern of the conventional ghost were submitted to his gaze, with the customary weird howls. Tim, however, simply looked fixedly at the apparition for a moment and remarked: "Arrah, now, and is it a general resurrection, or are ye just taking a walk by yourself?"

Learned From Nature.

An enthusiastic friend was dilating to the woman landscaper gardener on the obvious advantages she must derive from actually superintending the workmen who executed her designs.

"Being right out with nature that way you must learn so many interesting things," said the friend.

"I do," said the gardener, "I can tell the different kinds of whisky, the different kinds of tobacco and the different kinds of profanity a rod away."

Such Is Fate. "Why do you rock that boat?" asked the wise man.

"Because, in case of accident," replied the fool, "I'm always saved."

Colic's Carbolic acid quickly relieves and cures burning, itching and torrowing skin diseases. It instantly stops the pain of burns. Cures without scars. 25c and 50c by druggists. For free sample write to J. W. Cole & Co., Black River Falls, Wis.

"And what is its purpose?"

"Why, it cuts the grass."

If the blood is poor and filled with the poisons from diseased kidneys or inactive liver, the heart is not only starved but poisoned as well. There are many conditions due to impure blood—such as dropsy, fainting spells, nervous debility or the many scrofulous conditions, ulcers, "fever sores," white swellings, etc. All can be overcome and cured by

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

This supplies pure blood—by aiding digestion, increasing assimilation and imparting tone to the whole circulatory system. It's a heart tonic and a great deal more, having an alterative action on the liver and kidneys; it helps to eliminate the poisons from the blood.

To enrich the blood and increase the red blood corpuscles, thereby feeding the nerves on rich red blood and doing away with nervous irritability, take Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and do not permit a dishonest dealer to insult your intelligence with the "just as good kind." The "Discovery" has 40 years of cures behind it and contains no alcohol or narcotics. Ingredients plainly printed on wrapper.

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is sent free on receipt of stamps to pay expense of wrapping and mailing only. Send 31 one-cent stamps for the French cloth-bound book. Address: Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N.Y.
